

Our business was established by the machinist Joe Wick in 1971. Originally it consisted of chipping single parts and small batches in conventional production.

In the year 1990 Glenn Wick took over the business.

At first, the formerly conventional manufacturing was systematically supplemented with CNC machines, then entirely replaced over the years. We strive for the highest quality in our CNC machinery. A continuous development of quality and processing possibilities helps maintain the company's connection with our earliest customers, as well as acquire new companies and branches of industry. Successfully collaborating with our customers is extremely important to us.
